

ABSTRACT

5 The present invention concerns a plurality of variant nucleic acid and amino acid sequences obtained by alternative splicing. The present invention further concerns a method for detecting said nucleic acid and amino acid sequences, for example, for diagnostic purposes.

 The invention further concerns pharmaceutical compositions.

00327 9294260